BMW CARDATA.
QUICK GUIDE FOR CARDATA USERS.

Quick Guide BMW CarData.

With BMW CarData, BMW offers its customers the opportunity to view selected telematics data for their vehicle and, if interested, to actively release it for third parties they trust. In order to be able to offer you tailored services, the request for data access clearance is always initiated by the third party. If your vehicle is assigned to your account in the customer portal, BMW will notify you of a third party's request for data access clearance.

Requirements For Using CarData.

– Fundamental is the optional equipment TeleServices including a permanently installed and active SIM card in the vehicle.
– Your vehicle must be assigned to your account in the BMW ConnectedDrive portal.

– The CarData terms and conditions and privacy policies in the customer portal have to be accepted.

Necessary Steps For Using CarData.

Assignment of vehicle to account required

| 1) Create customer account | 2) Assign vehicle to customer account | 3) Notification of request for data access clearance | 4) Approval of data access clearance in the customer portal |

1) Create your personal customer account under: www.bmw-connecteddrive.com

2) Use the function to add a vehicle in the customer portal and assign your vehicle to your customer account.

3) BMW or MINI will notify you when a third party has submitted a request for data access clearance for your vehicle.

4) You can view the third party's data access clearance in the customer portal and either approve or reject it. A rejection of a data access clearance is possible at any time.

Facts Worth Knowing About Data Access Clearances.

– A data access clearance you have given to a third party in the customer portal always refers to your account and your vehicle.
– If you remove the assignment between your vehicle and your account, the data retrieval and thus the provision of services by the third party is no longer possible.

– If you have approved a data access clearance for a third party and then assign your vehicle to another customer account, the data retrieval is no longer possible for the third party.
